

THE INFLUENCE OF GLOBALIZATION AND INTEGRATION ON TRANSPORT

Summary

Transport is noticed as a main factor of globalization and integration development. From the one side the technical, technological and organizational progress in transport accelerates the globalization and integration processes, from the other - these processes define the demand of transport services. In paper special attention has been paid to sustainable development, quality of transport and integration in transport chains as well.