

INVESTMENT IN HUMAN RESOURCES AND THE ECONOMIC PROGRESS OF ENTERPRISE

Summary

Essential to the competitive environment surrounding every enterprise is the issue of constant training of personnel within the company, or the investment in human resources. Intensive investment in the development of human resources contributes to rational decision making processes, correct functioning of management, the updating of knowledge bases, raising the level of competitiveness and the economic process of the modern enterprise as a result.