

MINING COMMUNES' LOCAL FINANCE AS THE DEVELOPMENT' CONDITION AT THE EXAMPLE OF SILESIA VOIVODSHIP

Summary

The primary objective of conducted studies is an analysis of financing sources for local development on the area of mining communes in the Silesia Province. Studies comprised urban communes with a rank of municipality, with a mining commune status, of a dominating importance for the position of the Silesia Province region. A study of budgets in those communes covered an appraisal of the level of increase in revenues and their assignation to investment expenditures. In an analysis of all obligations of communes and their impact on their economic position in the process of restructuring in the heavy industry - mining - as well as the created possibilities for financing local development with means coming from outside the state budget, an appraisal was made of their usage and maintaining instruments advantageous to their achievement.