

SITUATION AND TRENDS ON CREDIT INSURANCE MARKET

Summary

The article presents the most important information which characterize the modern credit insurance market. The essence and structure of trade credit insurance has been described. The author presents also the specifics and structure of the world insurers market and the biggest insurance companies, which offer the credit insurance. At the end of the article, the author is trying to show the most important development tendencies at the described market.