AGRITOURISM IN SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT IN WESTERN POMERANIAN REGION

Summary

Rural tourism is one of kind of big capabilities of agriculture development activity. As to majority rural areas and regions, state of advancing development condition does not suffice and it does not effect to visible manner on their functional structures. Different benefits from development of tourism are achieving by village inhabitant testify tourist service and also local community enabling part of the village populations problems, stipulate too develop this process without harming natural environment. The papers present main role of tourism in sustainable development of Western Pomeranian region. Papers presents concept of sustainable development as well as analysis agritour-ism farms.

Translated by Agnieszka Brelik