

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF SAFETY IN PASSENGER TRANSPORT AND ITS INFLUENCE ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF REGIONS

Summary

Safety is becoming the more and more frequently analyzed issue connected with widely considered transport. Passenger transport safety is one of the key argument appealing for transport development in economy. The progress of infrastructure stimulates the social-economical development as well as integration processes. The infrastructure that has not been formed properly circumscribes the social-economical development and the cooperation with other countries. It may be also the reason of reducing progressive actions undertaken in other domains of economy. The condition of roads require modernization, improper technical condition of railway lines have got the negative influence on traffic safety. Additionally, unsatisfactorily developed airlines and waterways connections, in the assential way, may slow down the economical potential of Poland.

Translated by Kamila Bednarz