

SZCZECIN SCHOOL OF TRANSPORT ECONOMICS AS A DYNAMIC TRANSPORT RESEARCH AND EDUCATION CENTRE IN POLAND

Summary

The upcoming jubilee in Szczecin connecting with proceeding of 65th anniversary of the tertiary economic education in Western Pomeranian region which will happen in 2011, makes an opportunity to deeper analysis and evaluation of the research, didactic and organisational output of the Szczecin School of Transport Economics. This school puts its roots down up to year 1946.

The author of this paper as a person who has collaborated with transport oriented research and education centres in Szczecin since decades, however mainly with the Szczecin University and the Maritime University in Szczecin, being leading centres in this area, takes an attempt to retrospective view on an wide range activity undertaken by the Szczecin School of Transport Economics. In his scrutiny on this subject, the author has focused after all on research and didactic activity as well as output of the Faculty of Management and Economics of Services of the Szczecin University. His close attention attracts, however, Department of Transport Systems and Policy.

Translated by A.S. Grzelakowski