

MODELS AND METAPHORS IN THE INFORMATION SOCIETY RESEARCH

Summary

The article introduces several methodological issues of the information society as an object of research. Two basic approaches were distinguished - the humanistic approach, which includes metaphors, and the second approach which leads to construction of information society models as a social system.

Translated by Magda Witecka