Summary

Teaching using modern informatics’ technologies implements new possibilities of educational content presentation. Supplies and activities in e-learning systems are about to support didactical exercises executed through internet so to increase quality and learning effectiveness. Hereby presents wide range of knowledge repositories being used and a visualisation of key resources has been made, which represents e-course content.

Translated by Zbigniew E. Zieliński