MANAGEMENT OF MARKETING DATA COLLECTING FROM WEB RESOURCES

Summary

The paper presents different methods of marketing information collecting from Web resources and their applications in e-business activity. Web data mining requires proper tools and techniques for data retrieving, collecting and putting to one common structure for further analysis. The paper shows typology of data mining approaches and the ways of collecting marketing data from different web resources. The main methods of marketing data management have been described.

Translated by Aleksandra Radziszewska