USING OF COMPUTER SIMULATION FOR TRANSPORT MODE AND ROUTE CHOICE IN CARRIAGE OF GOODS

Summary

This article refers to general principles of the decision-making issues in terms of choosing both route and mean of transport for cargo carrying, particularly taking into consideration the value of supporting them by computer simulations. In addition, the concept of the simulation model was presented. It can be successfully used in generating data useful to decision-making process.

Translated by Roma Strulak-Wójcikiewicz